

A Note on “the Possibility of the Ribhus from the Bhrugu Clan”

By VR Patil (email:vrpmet@yahoo.com)

In the present note, based on the information available in some verses of Rigved, an attempt has been made to link the Bhrugus with the Ribhus.

I. Role of the Bhrugu clan in shaping the Yajna Ritual [1, 2]:

Yajna is the brain-child of the pre-Rigvedic Rishis and as per the information available in Rigved, it was fashioned after the creation of Indra (refer to verses Rv-8.89,5 and 6) [1]. In other words, it entered the Earliest Vedic Philosophy after the arrival of several old Deities like Seven Adityas, Rudra, Brahmanaspati, Agni, Usha, Indra, Vishnu etc.

Rigvedic Composers have identified two distinct forms of Land based Agni.

1. Household Agni – also known as Grihapati or Master of the house as in those days, in every house, food was cooked by burning the firewood. Additionally, Agni was regularly lit in night to obtain light and to keep away the wild animals

2. Agni of Yajna- It is different from the normal household Agni and has its origin in the wildfires that occur naturally in the dense forests. The Mandala-3 Poet in the verse Rv-3.9,5 has made it clear that Matarisvan (means wind) brought Agni of Yajna to them [1].

Rv-3.9,5: Him wandering at his own free will, Agni here hidden from our view,

Him Matarisvan brought to us from far away produced by friction, from the Gods.

“Agni of Yajna” is a gift given to “Bhrugu by Matarisvan”

Rv-1.60,1: vahniṃ yaśasaṃ vidathasya ketuṃ supṛāvyam dūtaṃ sadyoartham |

dvijanmānaṃ rayimiva praśastaṃ rātiṃ bharad bhrghavemātariśvā //

As twere some goodly treasure Matarisvan brought, as a gift, the glorious Priest to Bhrugu, Banner of sacrifice, the good Protector, child of two births, the swiftly moving envoy.

Interpretation: The Poet has described Agni as Dvi-janma; which implies that God Agni experiences two births on land means, one birth in the house of man by way of rubbing a wooden stick over another and is popularly known as Grihapati and probably another birth occurs in the forests as the wildfire. The verse also explains that Agni (of Yajna) is a gift given by Matarisvan (wind) to an ancient Bhrugu. In other words, it is the ancient Rishi Bhrugu who got an idea of replicating wildfire into Yajna ritual.

Verse Rv-1.83,4 informs us that Rishi Angirasa decided to go for first sacrifice.

Rv-1.83,4: ādaṅghirāḥ prathamam dadhire vaya iddhāghnayah śamyā yesukṛtyayā |

sarvam paṇeḥ samavindanta bhojanamaśvāvantam ghomantamā paśum narah ||

First the Angirases won themselves vital power, whose fires were kindled through good deeds and sacrifice.

The men together found the Pani's hoarded wealth, the cattle, and the wealth in horses and in kine.

As per the verse Rv-2.34,12 Dasagvas (from Angirasa Clan) performed first Yajna

RV-2.34,12: te daśaghvāḥ prathamā yajñamūhire te no hinvantūśaso vyuṣṭiṣu |

uṣā na rāmīraruṇairaporṇute maho jyotiṣāśucatā ghoarṇasā ||

In addition to above mentioned references about Angirasa clan, same Poet through the verse Rv-1.83,5 has also conveyed us that Rishi Atharvan belonging to Bhrugu clan was also present at the time of conduction of First Yajna of Vedic World.

Rv-1.83,5: yajñairatharvā prathamah pathastate tataḥ sūryo vratapāvena ājani |

ā ghā ājaduśanā kāvyah sacā yamasya jātamamṛtaṁ yajāmahe ||

Atharvan first by sacrifices laid the paths then, guardian of the Law, sprang up the loving Sun.

Usana Kavya straightway hither drove the kine. Let us with offerings honour Yama's deathless birth.

The Poet of the verse Rv-1.80,16 has intimated us that along with Atharvan, his son Dadhyach performed Yajna/sacrificial rite by praising God Indra with the specially composed song/prayer. The Composer(s) of the verses Rv-1.116,12; Rv-1.117,22 has told us that Dadhyach is the son of Atharvan [1].

Rv-1.80,16: yamatharva manuṣ pitā dadhyam dhiyamatnata |

tasmin brahmāṇi purvathendra ukthā samaghmatārcann svarājyam | |

Still as of old, whatever rite Atharvan, Manus sire of all Dadhyach performed, their prayer and praise united in that Indra meet, lauding his own imperial sway.

In the verse Rv-1.84,13, the Poet has stated that Rishi Dadhyach offered his bones/Asthi (in reality, it means his body) to fashion Vajra/thunderbolt, the potent weapon for Indra to facilitate the killing of many Vritras (plural, means unlike Indra, Vritra is mortal).

Rv-1.84,13: With bones of Dadhyac for his arms, Indra, resistless in attack, Struck nine-and-ninety Vrtras dead.

Additionally, Poet of the verse Rv-4.16,20 has explained that the Bhrugus shaped Ratha of Indra.

Rv-4.16,20: Now, as the Bhrugus wrought a car, for Indra the Strong, the Mighty, we our prayer have fashioned.

That he may, never withdraw from us his friendship, but be our bodies' guard and strong defender.

The Poets of Different Mandalas of Rigved have also pointed out the fact that the Bhrugus were closely associated with the Yajna/ Agni worship and who also took personal interest in propagating the same from one home to another (see the verses Rv-1.58,5; Rv-2,4,2; Rv-3.2,4; Rv-3.5,10; Rv-4.7,1; Rv-4.7,4; Rv-8.43,13; Rv-10.46,2; Rv-10.46,9; Rv-10.92,10; Rv-10.122,5). Please note that most of these verses belong to the hymns addressed to Agni.

Special Note on the Historical References present in Rigved:

Many Vedic Scholars often state that the Poets/Aryas who composed Rigved did not keep record of their past. But the verse Rv-1.139,9 makes it clear that the Poets of Old and Young Generations knew the real stories behind the origin of Indra and Agni of Yajna.

Rv-1.139,9: Dadhyac of old, Anigiras, Priyamedha these, and Kanva, Atri, Manu knew my birth, yea, those of ancient days and Manu knew.

Their long line stretcheth to the Gods, our birth-connexions are with them.

To these, for their high station, I bow down with song, to Indra, Agni, bow with song.

Additionally, existence of references of the mortal but pre-Rigvedic characters like Ila, Pururavasa, Nahusha, Yayati, and the story of together growing up of the first generation of the Five Tribes on the bank of river Saraswati exhibit that the ancestors of the Priests had close association with the ancient Royal Family who lived on the bank of river Saraswati.

Moreover, the Last Mandala Poet in the verses Rv-10.75,5 and 6 (Nadi-Stuti) specifically highlighted important rivers of the Eastern and Western parts of Rigvedic Territory by properly grouping them together in the related verses. It shows that the Poet was aware of the complete geography of the Rigvedic country where his ancestors lived in the past.

Since the Poets of old generations orally transferred these key features to their next generations, and that is why, we find several references of the pre-Rigvedic events in the Five Late Mandalas that include tales of the Ribhus, Indra, Yajna, Noble Family, Five Tribes etc.

Unfortunately, most of the Vedic Scholars of the modern time either do not take these references seriously or intentionally misinterpret the same to mislead the readers.

II. Major Contributions made by the Ribhus during the evolution of Yajna:

As mentioned elsewhere, Rigvedic Yajna is a small scale duplication of the wildfire that occurs in nature. Rigved informs us that several ancient Rishis belonging to Angirasa, Bhrugu and other clans actively participated in the development of Yajna procedure. As per the information provided by various Composers, it is Bharati who first suggested to invite the Deities for Yajna by loudly singing prayer. Based on her advice, seniors decided to open the door for the composition of the prayers. As per the verse Rv-1.96,2; Ayu composed the first Song of Praise. Then some Rishis jointly framed the rules for the composition of Poems including seven metres/chandaas (sapta maryada kavaya. Also refer to hymn Rv-10.130).

Similarly, at the time of fashioning of Yajna ritual, the Ribhus, (Vaja, Vibhvan, and Ribhu are the three brothers) too made their contributions that is explained below.

- Ribhus made available more quantity of Soma juice for sacrificial purpose.
- Ribhus mentally fashioned Ratha for Asvins and Hari/two tawny steeds for Indra especially to bring them to the site of Yajna (see verses Rv-1,20,2 and 3). They also created more Asvas from Asvas for other Deities too (see verse Rv-1.161,7)
- Ribhus using their wisdom composed a special prayer for Agni (Rv-10.80,7).

Here the main question is, what is the basis for the Ribhus produced more Soma juice?

In Rigved, there are 11 hymns dedicated to these three pre-Rigvedic Rishis who happened to be the sons of Sudhanvan and collectively known as the Ribhus (or Vajas).

Following verse from Mandala-4 describes that they used special technique for producing more quantity of Soma juice so that it can be offered in Yajna,

Rv-4.35,2 :Hither is come the Rbhus' gift of riches; here was the drinking of the well-pressed Soma,
Since by dexterity and skill as craftsmen ye made the single chalice to be fourfold.

As described in the above mentioned verse, the Ribhus using their skill could make four cups of juice from a single cup. When a large quantity of juice was made available, then the Yajna addicted pre-Rigvedic Priests could conduct more number of Yajna on the same day. Same juice was also consumed by the Priests after giving the libation.

References of the conversion a single cup into fourfold are also found in many verses of the hymns addressed to Ribhus such as Rv-4.33,5; Rv-4.35,3; Rv-4.35,4; Rv-4.36,4; Rv-1.20,6; Rv-1.110,3; Rv-1.161,2; Rv-1.161,4. Thus, the repeated references of fourfold Soma Juice make it apparent that by providing ample quantity Soma Juice, the Ribhus made invaluable contribution for Yajna ritual and hence it was highlighted by the different Poets.

III. The verses that could link the Ribhus with the Bhrugus:

In the earlier section, we have discussed about the pious and noble acts of the Ribhus in shaping the Yajna rite at the early stage.

In this section, we shall try to get answer to the fundamental question given below.

Whether the Ribhus (three brothers) who made available more quantity of the Soma Juice for Yajna Purpose were related to the Bhrugus?

It is to be noted here that in Ten Mandalas of Rigved, there is no direct reference indicating the Ribhus were from Bhrugu clan. It means to say that no Rigvedic Poet has ever said the Ribhus were related to the ancient Rishi Bhrugu.

Surprisingly, Vamadeva Gotama, the Lead Composer of Mandala-4 who has devoted five hymns (Rv-4.33 to 37) to Ribhus and also spoke about the Bhrugus shaped Ratha of Indra (see Rv-4.16,20), did not relate the Ribhus with the Bhrugus. This may be due to the fact that Vamadeva Gotama belonged to Angirasa family.

Hence it becomes necessary to search for any clue provided by any Poet in the hymns of Rigved, on whose basis we can arrive at the probable answer. After scanning through several hymns of Rigved, it has been noticed that the two different Poets of Mandala-9 and 10 have given some hints in their compositions. Mandala-10 selected verses are given below.

Two verses from the hymn Rv-10.39 dedicated to Asvins

Rv-10.39,12: ā tena yātaṃ manaso javīyasā rathaṃ yaṃ vām ṛbhavaścakruraśvinā /

yasya yoghe duhitā jāyate diva ubhe ahanīsudine vivasvataḥ //

Come on that Chariot which the Rbhus wrought for you, the Chariot, Asvins, that is speedier than thought,
At harnessing whereof Heaven's Daughter springs to birth, and from Vivasvan come auspicious Night and Day.

Rv-10.39,14: etaṃ vām stomamaśvināvakarmātakṣāma bhrghavo na ratham /

nyamṛkṣāma yoṣaṇām na marya nityaṃ na sūnuntanayaṃ dadhānāḥ //

We have prepared this laud for you, O Asvins, and, like the Bhrghus, as a car have framed it,
Have decked it as a maid to meet the bridegroom, and brought it as a son, our stay for ever.

Aforementioned verses taken from the hymn of the Last Mandala of Rigved wherein the Poet has cryptically talked about making of Ratha of Asvins. In the verse Rv-10.39,12; the Poet has reiterated the pre-Rigvedic time story that, it is the Ribhus who framed Ratha of Asvins that runs faster than thought. But the same Composer in the verse Rv-10.39,14; has indirectly mentioned that the Bhrghus as Asvins' Ratha maker.

From the above hint, it can be said that there is a strong possibility of the Ribhus related to Bhrghus. Therefore, the Poet in these two verses has spoken about their inter-relationship.

Now moving to another part of the earlier stated question, how did the Ribhus make four cups of Soma juice out of a single cup?

The verse from the hymn Rv-9.11 addressed to Soma Pavamana offers probable answer to the said question.

Rv-9.11,2: abhi te madhunā payo'tharvāṇo aśiśrayuḥ / devaṃ devāya devayū //

अभि ते मधुना पयो ऽथर्वाणो अशिश्युः । देवं देवाय देवयु ॥

Together with thy pleasant juice the Atharvans have commingled milk, Divine, devoted to the God.

In the above verse, the Singer has pointed out the fact that Atharvans (plural, ancient Atharvan, also known as the father of Dadhyach who offered his bones for fabricating Vajra of God Indra, is said to be from Bhrugu clan) have mixed the sweet Soma juice with the milk and then offered the God (Soma) to the Gods (देवं देवाय देवयु /Rigvedic Deities).

From the content of the above verse, it can be inferred that the ancient pious and skilful-handed Ribhus would have first extracted maximum juice from Soma stalks as they were the well-known Vaidyas/ Physicians among the Rishis who then added ingredients like milk, honey and water to make the four cups from a single cup of Soma juice/concentrate.

When the Mandala-9 Poet specifically highlights Atharvans (plural) as the large quantity of Soma Juice makers, then it becomes evident that since pre-Rigvedic period, the Bhrugus had expertise in making Soma Juice. But as per the hymns dedicated to the Ribhus, it is the three brothers who made more Soma juice available for the Yajna purpose, then the possibility of close or blood relation between the Ribhus and the Bhrugus cannot be ruled out.

IV. Reviewing the acts of the Bhrugus after inclusion of the Ribhus in the clan:

Once the Ribhus are considered as the part of ancient Bhrugu clan, then it becomes essential to find out whether their inclusion in the old clan creates confusion about the activities that are credited to pre-Rigvedic Bhrugus. The information compiled from the Rigvedic hymns has been presented in Table-1.

General perception about the acts credited to Bhrugus	Descriptions found in the Rigvedic verses/hymns about the Bhrugus
Bhrugus are the originator of Yajna worship.	The verse Rv-1.60,1 brings out the fact that it is the ancient Bhrugu who got an idea of replication of wildfire into proper Yajna rite (simple Agni to Yajna transformation). Rv-10.80,7 informs us that the Ribhus composed prayer for Agni of Yajna .
Bhrugus introduce Soma sacrifice first time in the Vedic Philosophy	As per the verses Rv-4.33,5; Rv-4.35,2; Rv-4.35,3; Rv-4.35,4; Rv-4.36,4; Rv-1.20,6; Rv-1.110,3; Rv-1.161,2; Rv-1.161,4 it is the Ribhus (Bhrugus) due to their special skill made available more quantity of Soma juice and hence general perception about the Bhrugus as the originator of Soma sacrifice holds true.
Bhrugus shaped Indra's Ratha	In the hymns dedicated to the Ribhus , even though the Poets did not talk about the creator of Ratha of Indra , but the Mandala-4 verse Rv-4.16,20 indicates that Bhrugus mentally fashioned Ratha of Indra . Once the Ribhus are treated as the members of Bhrugu clan, then it makes no difference who is other person from Bhrugu clan mentally created Ratha of Indra . Ribhus are always known as the fashioner of Indra's Asvas /Hari and Asvins Ratha .

From the information placed in Table-1, it can be said that the incorporation of the Ribhus in the family of the ancient clan of Rishi Bhrugu does not go against either of them.

Special Observations on the “Asva/Ashva” of the Ribhus

1. As mentioned in the hymns dedicated to the Ribhus, three brothers namely; Vaja, Ribhu and Vibhvana mentally shaped the Asvas for the Rigvedic Deities. But as per the Poet of the hymns Rv-1.162 and 163; the True Horse is the creation of God Tvastar (see verses Rv-1.62, 3; and Rv-1.162,19). As a matter of fact, the Rigvedic Poets have treated the stories of origin of the Fictional Asvas of the Deities and the Factual Horse mentioned in the hymns Rv-1.162 and 163 in a different manner and hence both cannot be correlated.

2. Since inception of Rigved, the Composers have treated Dhenu/ the milch cow as the Very Respected Character or as good as the Deity, but the Poet of last but one Mandala in the hymns Rv-1.162 and 163 has given the True Horse the status of the God (refer to verse Rv-1.162,1 for the special term deva-jatasya) which manifests that the True Horse entered the Rigvedic Territory during the period of the Late Mandalas. Despite the fact that the several Rigvedic Poets have regularly glorified the acts of Indra’s Two Tawny Steeds /Hari in many verses, but the hymn dedicated to Hari is found only in the Last Mandala (Rv-10.96). It means to say that earlier to the hymns Rv-1.162 and 163 that are addressed to the True Horse, no hymn was independently devoted to Indra’s Hari/Asvas though they were shaped during pre-Rigvedic period.
